Immediate Action Required: Report on Foreclosure Auction Misconduct and Request for Investigation www.dropbox.com/t/2xr4ofau1MaM5Ral << has some of the evidence To Whom It May Concern, I am writing to follow up on my previous letter dated March 1, 2024, regarding the wrongful foreclosure auction of my property by Bank of America (BoA), Carrington Mortgage Services (CMS), ReconTrust Company N.A., and their collaborators. It's not just about the foreclosure as there is mass fraud that was uncovered and touches everything from rampant securities fraud to RICO with rings at local levels of many cities where BoA does business. Despite the gravity of my allegations and the urgent plea for investigative and legal intervention, I am disheartened to report that I have yet to receive a response or acknowledgment from your office or any of the authorities and organizations previously contacted. Unaddressed Allegations and New Information The silence and inaction to my initial plea have left me in an increasingly precarious situation. In my ongoing struggle against the unjust foreclosure of my home, I have encountered a profound silence from authorities regarding not only my property but also several critical issues that pose grave implications for public safety and justice. These matters, while distinct from the foreclosure debacle, are integral to showcasing the extent of misconduct and malfeasance I am fighting against. My tenant, in a bid to prevent our displacement and contribute to a safer community, has come forward with a willingness to expose key individuals involved in the fentanyl trade. This offer of cooperation, emerging from our shared plight, underscores the severity of the situation and our commitment to justice. Fentanyl Trade Exposure: My tenant is ready to provide names of significant figures in the fentanyl trade, a gesture aimed not only at securing our residence but also at curbing a deadly epidemic. This act of courage and desperation highlights the broader societal impacts of our personal battle. Attempt on My Life: I have recently discovered that there is no statute of limitations on attempts on one's life. This revelation pertains to a previous incident involving a Pinkerton Agent affiliated with an Executive Threat Team for a major corporation. This attack on my life, which I had previously mentioned in passing, now stands as a pivotal issue. I assert my right to press charges and demand a thorough investigation into this heinous act. DOJ Agent Misconduct: In a troubling breach of ethics and legal standards, I have identified a Department of Justice agent who inappropriately intervened in matters directly affecting my fight for justice. This individual's presence in a scenario where their involvement was unwarranted suggests a covert attempt to suppress my efforts. I possess concrete evidence of this misconduct, including the agent's identity and proof of their undue interference. Extortion Ring of Doctors: In a disturbing discovery, my investigations have unearthed an extortion ring involving medical professionals. This network appears to operate nationwide, exploiting patients for financial gain under the guise of healthcare. The implications of such practices are profound, affecting countless innocent lives and undermining the integrity of the medical profession. My commitment to bringing this issue to light is driven by a fundamental belief in the right to safe and honest medical treatment for all. Cross-State Sexual Assault Involving a Minor and Methamphetamine: Another grave issue I've encountered involves a sexual assault on a minor, a case that spans across state lines and is intertwined with the illicit methamphetamine trade/use as I was informed. My resolve to address this issue stems from a deep-seated conviction that justice for victims and stringent action against perpetrators are paramount. These issues are not merely ancillary; they are critically interwoven with my struggle against the foreclosure of my home. They serve as stark illustrations of the systemic problems that enable and protect fraudulent activities and criminal behaviors. By bringing these matters to light alongside my fight against the foreclosure, I aim to underscore the urgency for comprehensive action and investigation. The linkage of these grave concerns to my central issue of foreclosure is deliberate. It is a plea for the authorities to recognize the multifaceted nature of the injustice I am confronting. These additional allegations, each serious in their own right, amplify my call for immediate and decisive intervention. My case is not simply about a property dispute; it is a microcosm of larger systemic failures that threaten public trust and safety. In presenting these issues, my intention is clear: to compel action by making it impossible to ignore the breadth and depth of misconduct at play. This approach is not taken lightly but is born out of necessity, driven by the ongoing refusal of local and higher authorities to engage with the egregious violations of law and decency I have documented. My fight for my home has inadvertently exposed me to a broader struggle against corruption and injustice, one that I am unwillingly but resolutely engaged in. A Plea for Justice and Logical Action The inaction from local authorities, with both the Lewiston Police Department and the County Sheriff's Office deeming my situation as "civil" and deciding not to follow up, has placed me in an untenable position. I understand that they are busy trying to help others and that they were not seeing the connections on the criminal parts, but if someone had come, talked with me, and listened, I am sure it would have become very clear. It raises a massive question: What am I, a victim of systemic fraud and misconduct, supposed to do? The suggestion that I should quietly allow the theft of my home and simply move on is not only unjust but illogical. If the rigged auction and the subsequent attempt to steal my home are deemed civil matters, then it stands to reason that my continued residence in my home, along with my tenant's, should also be considered a civil matter, protected from forcible eviction without due process. The lack of action has essentially forced me into a corner where refusing to leave my property appears as the only viable form of resistance against a clearly rigged and illegal process. This stance, however, should not be necessary. The law and justice should serve as the bulwarks against such blatant acts of fraud and corruption. Request for Immediate Review and Action I implore your office and all relevant authorities to take my plea seriously and act with the urgency this situation demands. The auction of my home must be nullified, and a thorough investigation into all allegations presented must be initiated. It is not just about one property or one individual; it is about upholding the integrity of our legal and financial systems, protecting the rights of citizens, and ensuring that justice prevails over corruption and malfeasance. The detailed account of violations and misconduct I have provided, along with the additional information my tenant is willing to offer, underscores the need for a multi-faceted investigation that encompasses financial fraud, collusion, and now, significant criminal activity. It is a matter of public interest and safety. Conclusion I am at a loss for how to proceed in the face of systemic inaction and or disregard for legal rights and ethical standards, be it willful or not. My plea is not only for the sake of my property and personal situation but for the broader implications these actions have on the rule of law and trust in our institutions. I am offering everything I can, risking personal safety and security, in the hope of garnering attention to these matters. All I ask in return is for your office and the relevant authorities to fulfill their duties to investigate, intervene, and ensure justice is served. Thank you for your attention to this urgent matter. I remain available to provide any further information or documentation required and await your prompt and decisive response. Sincerely, Jeremy Lee Bass 208-549-9584 1515 21st Ave. Lewiston, ID 83501-3629 Quantum.J.L.Bass@RAWdeal.io
