Re: COVID-19 Pandemic Forbearance Plan

Dear Borrower(s):

On 07/30/2020, you notified Carrington Mortgage Services, LLC ("Carrington") that you have been impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Your initial forbearance plan has expired or is expiring, and we have not heard from you regarding your financial situation. As required by federal or state law, we are extending your payment forbearance plan that began 07/01/2020, which will now expire on 04/30/2022. This brings your total forbearance period to 22 months(s) ("total forbearance period"). If you have kept your loan current and/or you no longer need a COVID-19 forbearance, you will need to opt out of the forbearance plan. You can opt out online with a few simple clicks by visiting our website at www.carringtonmortgage.com/covid19, signing in to your account and clicking the "Opt Out" button, or you may call us to 800-561-4567 to speak with a Representative to verbally opt out.

If you do not opt out of this extended forbearance plan, please see the outline below on what this means to you and what to expect as next steps:

- You will not be required to make your regular monthly mortgage payments during the forbearance period.
- This forbearance plan is based solely on your affirmation that you are impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. By accepting this forbearance plan, you are affirming that you have been impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Impacts include loss of income, reduction of income, and/or illness to you or an immediate family member.
- Acceptance of this plan is defined by not making your regular monthly payments during the forbearance period. If you accept this plan and you are set up on automatic drafts, you need to notify us and request to cancel your draft. Please call or email your request to cancel to COVIDACHcancellationrequest@carringtonms.com at least three (3) business days before your payment is due to be drafted. If you have recurring drafts set up with your financial institution, we recommend you notify them to stop future automatic payments while you are on a forbearance plan.
- If you do not have an escrow account with Carrington, you should continue to make payments for your property taxes and insurance when those payments become due.
- It is important to understand that all monthly payments that are suspended during the forbearance period and not due in accordance with the original terms of your mortgage are not forgiven and you will have to repay those payments eventually. Carrington offers other loss mitigation options and will work with you on all available options in order to bring your loan current. You have the option to submit a complete loss mitigation application to receive an evaluation for all loss mitigation options and you will be notified in writing of the option(s) available to you. Please reach out to our Loss Mitigation Department at the contact information below for information on how to submit a loss mitigation application.
- During the final month of your forbearance period, we will reach out to you to determine your current financial condition and ability to resume making mortgage payments. If you are unable to resume making monthly payments at the end of your forbearance plan, you may be eligible for an extension. Our outreach may be by phone, email, or regular mail, so please be responsive so we can assist you before your forbearance period expires.

- As of the effective date for which your forbearance period is granted, any payments that come due during the covered period that are not paid will not be reported as late payments to the credit reporting agencies. During the forbearance period, you can contact Carrington Mortgage Services LLC during normal business hours, or we will reach out to you to discuss workout options to bring your loan current prior to the expiration of your plan. While you are completing a COVID workout option, your account will continue to be reported to the credit bureaus as previously outlined. If you do not engage with Carrington to bring your loan current or fail to comply with any agreed upon plan, your loan will be reported to the credit reporting agencies according to the actual delinquency status after the expiration of your forbearance period.
- No fees or penalties will be assessed to your account during the forbearance period.
- Carrington will not make the first notice or filing required by applicable law for any judicial or non-judicial foreclosure and Carrington will not move for foreclosure judgment or order of sale or conduct a foreclosure sale during the forbearance period.
- Other than as described in this letter, all the terms and conditions of your current mortgage documents remain in effect during the term of the forbearance plan. Nothing in the forbearance plan shall be construed to be a satisfaction or release in whole or in part of your obligations contained in the mortgage documents.
